MEMORIES OF LINDFIELD

The Artist and her Prints

Brenda Barratt lived near Lindfield for many years and specialises in painting watercolour house portraits. She has sold hundreds of Limited Edition Prints of her watercolour paintings of Sussex schools and local views.

Brenda comes from a long line of professional artists and has been painting architecture for almost 30 years. Her matching set of four Limited Edition Prints of Lindfield make ideal mementoes for anyone with fond memories of Sussex's finest village.

Prints are signed and numbered and presented in a classic double mount and a wood and gilt frame. Two frame sizes are available; the small is 16" by 12" and the larger 20" by 16". All have a Certificate of Authenticity.

Why are Brenda's watercolours popular? "They are unique and compared with a photograph, a watercolour is kinder to the natural habitat," says Brenda. "For instance, when I painted my Lindfield views, I was blind to telegraph poles, power cables and TV aerials. I even removed the cars!"

Brenda's house portraits exhibit the same sensitivity. "I've painted many a house in the depths of winter showing the garden in full summer bloom!" As a keen gardener, this is all part of Brenda's creative challenge.
